UF’s Ethics and Civility Week

In an effort to promote ethical behavior on campus at the University of Florida, the student Ambassadors of Civility and Ethics (ACE) and Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution in the Dean of Students Office are hosting “Ethics & Civility Week” from Monday, February 13 – Friday, February 17, 2012.

ACE is a student organization at UF with the mission to promote academic integrity and a positive campus environment. ACE aids the Dean of Students Office by supporting students in achieving academic and personal success and working to educate students about their rights and responsibilities as members of the University of Florida community.

Throughout the week of February 13-17, 2012, the Ambassadors of Civility and Ethics will be hosting events across campus to create awareness of civility and ethical issues among members of the campus community. In previous years, the week has featured a variety of events such as film screenings, a blood drive, community service events, workshops, seminars, and lectures from students and faculty on topics relating to civility and/or ethics. We are seeking programs in the following areas, as well as any other subjects that may be relevant to the topic of civility and ethics:

- Civility in Recreation Sports/Sportsmanship
- Social Justice
- Healthy Relationships/Communication
- Game Day Behavior/Athletics
- Cyber Bullying
- Decision Making
- Business/Leadership Ethics
- Free Speech
- Civility in Higher Education
- Civil Rights
- Academic Integrity
- Town & Gown

We encourage any faculty, staff, and/or graduate students to participate in this event by facilitating a workshop or seminar during this week. We request that you submit a program proposal on any variety of applicable topics in order to make this week successful campus-wide event.
