Scope of work
January 1, 2021-Dec. 31, 2021

PI, Maya Israel, will collaborate with NYU in the development of professional development activities for New York City Public Schools related to Universal Design for Learning (UDL)-based computer science education. This work will involve development of online professional development, facilitate synchronous professional development, and collaborate on research activities.