

Overview

The UFLC K-12 Instructional Leadership Development program is designed to build the capacity of school systems for instructional quality improvement. Instructional leaders, consisting of coaches, peer evaluators and administrators, will deepen their expertise through inquiry—using Communities of Practice and coaching tools—to advance a culture of learning in their school sites and communities. This intentional and powerful strategy is intended to improve student outcomes. Building upon our work with Marion County Public Schools, UFLC desires to continue to partner with the district to develop a strong cadre of instructional leaders who deepen their expertise through inquiry and use Communities of Practice (CoP) and coaching tools and strategies to advance a culture of learning in their school sites and communities in order to improve student outcomes.
