

TAO Connect, Inc has just launched its first product for the treatment of anxiety using a comprehensive platform including high production quality interactive video, online activities and a video conferencing tool for clients to connect with mental health therapists. Our mental health treatment is demonstrated to be more effective than traditional face-to-face therapy alone. TAO Connect is based in the new Innovation Hub for startup companies in Gainesville, Florida and is part of an active startup community in downtown Gainesville.

We are building a new team to include, Instructional designers and project managers, User Experience and User Interface developers, PHP programmers, and a graphic designer.

Now is the opportunity to join our company and make a difference for millions of people by developing effective mental health therapy that is available any time, any where!
