

Environmental Education Workshop

What? Project Learning Tree (PLT) is partnering with Fire in Southern Ecosystems (FISE) to offer a joint educator workshop in the Gainesville area.

Who? Anyone interested in learning how to teach youth about the environment and the role that fire plays in southeastern ecosystems. Undergraduate and graduate students, teachers, and non-formal educators are welcome.

Why?

- Earn continuing education credit
- Build your resume with new abilities and skills
- Become a certified Project Learning Tree Educator
- Receive PLT's PreK-8 Guide with 96 activities
- Receive a CD with FISE activities and resources
- Meet other educators, share ideas and network
- Have Fun!

When? March 14, 2015, 9am to 3:30pm

How Much? Only $5!

Where? Austin Cary Forest Learning Center

Thanks to Our Sponsors!

UF School of Forest Resources and Conservation and Florida Forest Service

Register online at <http://pltfise.eventbrite.com>

For questions about FISE, contact Adam Kent (akent@normandeau.com)

For questions about PLT or workshop details, contact Annie Oxarart (oxarart@ufl.edu)

