

Violence Against Women

Dr Maddy Coy

WST 3930 Section: 03CD Spring 2018

M W F 3

3 credits

Feminist activism on violence against women has never been more visible. So what do we know, and what do we think we know, about violence against women?

This course will explore:

- the international evidence base on violence against women
- myths and stereotypes
- conceptual frameworks
- the extent, prevalence and impact of different forms of violence against women
- specific social and geographical contexts
- law and public policy responses
- human rights approaches
- how the media report and frame violence against women
- prevention work

SPRING 2018 SEATS ARE AVAILABLE