

Mentoring for Career Development

New Course!
EDA6931
Special Topics
Mentoring for Career Development
3 grad credit hours

An elective open to any graduate level
student, any major,
and also staff.

FULLY ONLINE!

Studies have shown that those who are mentored earn higher salaries, receive more promotions, and have greater career and job satisfaction than those who are not mentored

Course Description: This course will be beneficial to those who are getting ready to launch a career, or already working. Mentoring is for everyone! Learn how to set smart career goals, how to identify and seek the best mentor for yourself, be a mentor, and guide a mentoring program. You will develop greater self-understanding as you prepare to be an effective protégé and mentor. This course has received outstanding student reviews!

For further information, contact Dr. Linda Searby lindasearby@coe.ufl.edu

